

#343: Ahh, Nothing Like the Feel of the Breeze on Your Toes

Our contributor saw this guy departing the exchange at a naval air station recently. The motorcycle was duly equipped with a base sticker and an active-duty tag.

Active duty, perhaps. Active brain? Nope. Active hazard awareness? Nope. Actively flouting the rules for PPE? Yep.

I'm willing to bet that's a toy helmet, too.

Note: This isn't the same fellow who appeared in Photo of the Week #311, "Those New Safety Flip-Flops You've Heard So Much About" (http://www.safetycenter.navy.mil/photo/archive/archive_301-350/photo311.asp). It's his brother.